SPOTLIGHT ON THE SAINTS

By Bob Rawson

The Martyrs of Gorkum

The Martyrs of Gorkum were victims of religious hatred. In the first half of the 16th century, various forms of Protestantism particularly Lutheranism and Calvinism swept through the present-day Holland and Belgium (then called “the Spanish Netherlands”). Under the rule of Spain, Emperor Charles V and his son King Philip II instituted a systematic campaign to root out the new religious movements, which resulted in political resentment towards the authorities, including the Catholic Church. Inhabitants of the northern Netherlands, who were primarily Protestant, were in open revolt against Spanish rule. In the internal rivalry among the Protestant denominations, Calvinism managed to suppress Lutheranism. On April 1, 1572, the Watergeuzen (Sea-beggars) conquered Brielle (Den Briel) and later Vlissingen (Flushing). In June, Dortrecht and Gorkum fell into their hands. In these religious wars, both sides committed atrocities such as massacres, pillaging, and destruction of cities, towns, villages and farms, leaving a path of poverty and disease in their wake. Protestant armies wrecked great cathedrals and monasteries. They raged in a fury against Catholic images of Jesus, the Blessed Virgin Mary and the angels and saints.

At Gorkum the rebels captured nine Franciscan priests: Nicholas Pieck, guardian of Gorkum; Hieronymus of Weert, vicar; Theodorus van der Eem of Amersfoort; Nicasius Janssen of Heeze; Willehad of Denmark; Godefried of Mervel; Antonius of Weert; Antonius of Hoornaer, and Franciscus de Roye of Brussels. To these were added two lay brothers from the same friary, Petrus of Assche and Cornelius of Wijk bij Duurstede. At almost the same time the Calvinists arrested the parish priest of Gorkum, Leonardus Vechel of Hertogenbosch, and his assistant.

Also imprisoned were Godefried van Duynsen of Gorkum, a priest in his native city, and Joannes Lenartz of Oisterwijk, a Canon Regular from a nearby priory and spiritual director for the monastery of Augustinian nuns in Gorkum. To these fifteen were later added four more companions: Joannes van Hoornaer (alias known as John of Cologne), a Dominican of the Cologne province and parish priest not far from Gorkum, who when apprised of the incarceration of the clergy of Gorkum hastened to the city in order to administer the sacraments to them and was seized and imprisoned with the rest; Jacobus Lacops of Oudenaar, a Norbertine, who became a curate in Monster, South Holland; Adrianus Janssen of Hilvarenbeek, a Premonstratensian canon and at one time parish priest in Monster, who was sent to Brielle with Jacobus Lacops. Last was Andreas Wouters of Heynoord.

In prison at Gorkum from June 26 to July 6, 1572, the first 15 prisoners were transferred to Brielle, arriving there on July 8, 1572. On their way to Dordrecht they were exhibited for money to the curious. The following day, William de la Marck, Lord of Lumey, commander of the Watergeuzen, had them interrogated. In the meantime, four others arrived. It was demanded of each that he abandon his belief in Transubstantiation, the doctrine of the real presence of Christ in the Blessed Sacrament, as well as the belief in papal supremacy. All remained firm in their faith. Meanwhile, there came a letter from the Prince of Orange, William the Silent, which enjoined all those in authority to leave priests and religious unmolested. Nevertheless, William de la Marck had them hanged in the night of July 9, 1572, in a turfshed. Their bodies were mutilated during and after their executions then they were dumped in a ditch. Their beatification took place on November 14, 1675, and their canonization on June 29, 1865. The ultimate victory of the martyrs is achieved in their conformity to their Savior, who suffered and died, and rose from the dead.

CATHOLIC SERVICES APPEAL 2025

Our 2025 parish goal is $15,613.

We are a culture of doers. We demonstrate love for our families through service – taking aging parents to doctor appointments, hosting holiday gatherings, carting kids to school activities. We climb the ladder of success through long hours of work. So burdened by activities, we often need another rest after returning home from a family vacation. Even in our faith lives, we follow Christ by doing. We evangelize, serve the marginalized, attend Mass, etc. Service is good.

Jesus' ministry was an active one based on service, and as his followers, we're called to continue these good works in his name. But we need to be with Jesus, too. We need to contemplate him, this God-made man who brings good news to those who suffer. Jesus says, "The Spirit of the Lord is upon me." If we let the Holy Spirit rest in us as it did in him, we will enjoy a deep and abiding friendship with Christ. He desires intimacy with us, and intimacy requires that we slow down and feel the presence of our Lord in our lives.

In Jesus' first sermon, we see that the Spirit dwells in him, empowering him to establish a kingdom of peace and justice that will never end. Please pray for the success of the Catholic Services Appeal as a way of building the Kingdom of God and ask the Holy Spirit to guide your participation in it. More information how you can help will be available next weekend.

We ask you to look over the Christ's Caring Disciples pamphlet and see if you can serve in one or two of the roles described. Please contact Fr Shane or the parish office if you have any questions.

(PRACTICING) CATHOLIC – THESE EVIL DAYS

By Colleen Jurkiewicz Dorman

Mini Reflection: Jesus didn't come to fix the brokenness of the world. He came to fix our brokenness. He offers us not relief from the trials of life, but an answer to the question of how to live in joy, in love and in purpose in the midst of these evil days.

These Evil Days

"Alas, that these evil days should be mine."

If you've ever seen "The Lord of the Rings," you might recognize this quote from "The Two Towers." The words are spoken by King Theoden at the grave of his only son and heir, as Theoden contemplates the coming war for Middle Earth, a war which has already claimed the life of his son, a war he wants no part of, a war that seems utterly hopeless and unwinnable.

You don't have to be a fantasy enthusiast or even a Tolkien fan to identify with Theoden here. We have all experienced this same feeling of despair, perhaps increasingly in this age of technology and social media, when the ills of the whole world — violence, injustice, moral disorder and chaos — are in our faces, on our phones, looming over our days.

But when we despair like this, we forget an important truth: this is the time of fulfillment, and we are lucky enough to be living through it.

Yes, the world is broken. It was broken two thousand years ago, too, when Jesus stood up in the synagogue on the Sabbath and read the words of the prophet Isaiah: "He has anointed me to bring glad tidings to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim liberty to captives...and to proclaim a year acceptable to the Lord."

Jesus didn't come to fix the brokenness of the world. He came to fix our brokenness. He offers us not relief from the trials of life, but an answer to the question of how to live in joy, in love and in purpose in the midst of these evil days.
